

National Rural ITS Conference

September 3-5, 2008
Anchorage, Alaska

Photo courtesy of Jack Sreckel, Alaska Department of Transportation & Public Facilities.

North To The Future/Alaska 2008

North To the Future/Alaska 2008

Alaska Dept. of Transportation & Public Facilities
Division of Program Development
PO Box 112500
Juneau, AK 99801-2500

Experience all that Alaska has to offer while networking with transportation professionals from across the US when you join us for the 2008 National Rural ITS Conference. "North to the Future" is the theme for the event and participants will see firsthand cutting edge technologies applied in a stunning, and sometimes harsh, environment. Tentatively titled the "Mega Tour", one of the highlight events will allow participants to tour the Anton Anderson Memorial Whittier Access Tunnel, powered by a sophisticated tunnel control system, as well as visit the Portage Glacier Visitor's Center. On Turnagain Pass, spectacular scenery complements exceptional use of technology as tour participants see how Alaska addresses power and communication challenges in extreme rural settings. So plan your trip north and we'll see you there!

Additional information will be made available via the conference website - www.nritsconference.org.
Sponsored in part by USDOT, ITS America, and the Alaska Department of Transportation & Public Facilities